Friends of Saint Paul's School,

Thank you so much for your presence and support during our recent Homecoming Weekend. In spite of the emergence of Tropical storm Karen and the subsequent logistical adaptations, Homecoming Weekend was a SUCCESS. From a sold out golf tournament, to the alumni gatherings, and the rebirth of the Jazz' N Roll which will net near the top of all time, we are grateful to all of the supporters of Saint Paul's School, especially our alumni.

Remember, there are plenty more alumni activities on the horizon as the Spring Semester approaches. Please mark your calendars for January 21, 2014 for the next General Alumni meeting at which time Brother Ray will once again address the alumni in regard to the state of school affairs. The remainder of the agenda, which will be sent out before the meeting, will focus on reimplementation of the alumni Board, the Spring calendar events, committee formations, and the like. As always, feel free to contact us in development or alumni, if we can be of any assistance.

See you around campus,
Al Nastasi '91

Fenwick Eustis V '04 - Fenwick will marry Elizabeth Danielle Fruge in January of 2014 at the Academy of the Sacred Heart Chapel in Grand Coteau. Elizabeth is completing her residency at LSU Health Sciences Center and Fenwick, a graduate of University of Alabama, is an account manager with PEC/Premier Safety Management in Mandeville, LA.

Chris McDonald '97 - after graduating from Saint Paul's, Chris discovered a love for the restaurant industry while attending the University of Southern Mississippi. That love for the restaurant industry soon became a culture for McDonald and his staff. The recent Covington opening will mark the eleventh location for Mugshots Grill and Bar. In 2009, McDonald founded Ain't Life Grand Investments, a restaurant group consisting of three concepts which makes up sixteen locations throughout Mississippi, Alabama, and Louisiana. In addition, McDonald also founded Making Life Grand, the non-profit organization for Ain't Life Grand Investments. Mugshots Grill & Bar not only takes pride in serving its famous gourmet burgers, but giving back to all local communities is a top priority of the Mugshots Grill & Bar family. The Covington restaurant is located at 300 Riverhighlands Blvd, Covington LA. 985-893-2422 www.mugshotsgrillandbar.com.

Echoes of the Past

Steven Scott Stalder Memorial

In 1986, I remember Principal Brother Jeffrey waiting for us in Founders' Circle. We got off the bus and gathered around and he broke the news to us that we had lost one of our schoolmates, Scott Stalder. Scott had been in an accident that took his life. I recall the confusion I felt and the grief I saw around me. As the days and weeks passed, I took in the different stages of grief with the support the guys gave one another as well as the Brothers and faculty; listening, hugs, and shoulders to cry on, a true rebuilding of the community crushed by tragedy.

From that tragedy, the Class of '86 decided to put up a reminder for all for students as a reflection of Scott who freely associated with all groups and all levels. The monument is a simple and effective student bulletin board. A place where one see himself in photos or find out what's for lunch. From the profound displays of Saint Paul's community in action to the latest painting, it can be found here.

The monument is located in the heart of the campus next to the Signum Fidei Pavilion between Benilde Hall and the Main School Building. The monument is passed by hundreds of students every day and utilized by clubs to display their latest triumphs. I leave you with an excerpt from the 1986 Salutatory address of Sam Latino: "As I look back at the year, I know that one of the most important, unifying factors was the tragic death of senior Scott Stalder. Scott was a significant part of our class; every member was affected by his death. Together we still miss him. We could not have coped with this tragedy as individuals; we were supported by the love and shared-grief of our classmates. We learned what John Donne meant when he said, "No man is an island, entire of itself; every man is a piece of the continent, a part of the main."

Annual Fund

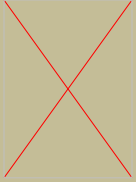

Saint John Baptist de La Salle's original schools charged no tuition. Rich and poor alike were welcomed, and "charity" of benefactors and the donated services of the Brothers funded the schools. We can no longer offer "free" schools, but Saint Paul's tuition compares very favorably with other comparable schools.

Some plans for this year's drive include payment for Project Lead the Way Curriculum (PLTW), Pre-law curriculum, faculty compensation and educational conferences, technological improvements, tuition assistance, and capital improvements.

Please assist me in accomplishing a successful annual drive and complete a check to Saint Paul's School, 917 S. Jahncke Ave, Covington, LA 70433 or you may donate online on our website. Please help me reach the goal of increasing the number givers than in years past, large or small. I trust that if you are able and believe in Saint Paul's, you will give a gift within your means. For more information, please review our small brochure for this year's drive.

Sincerely,
Brother Ray Bulliard, FSC

Homecoming

Saint Paul's School celebrated Homecoming 2013 with a football game against Hammond High School, on Friday, October 4th. The week following the game was peppered with a number of special activities organized by the members of the Student Council. The student council sponsored dress down days from Monday to Thursday with thematic attire including: breast cancer awareness day (pink day), twin day, college day, and thrift store day.

During halftime, the Saint Paul's community honored the 2013 Homecoming Court voted on by the student body. The junior maid Livi Priola was nominated by junior Davis Neitzschman and escorted by senior David Conlin and the three senior maids, Carley Boyce, Madeline Luke, and Hailey Osbon were nominated by Michael Burke, Justin Scortino, and Nicholas Taylor respectively. Because of Justin Scortino's role in the evening's game, senior Thomas Ruli escorted Ms. Luke. At the end of halftime, Saint Paul's School crowned Carley Boyce the Homecoming Queen. During Saint Scholastica Academy's Homecoming dance, Cole Abraham, nominated and escorted by Rachel Pecoraro, was named the Duke and Justin Scortino, nominated and escorted by Madeline Luke, won the crown of King.

Alumni and their families were welcomed back for the game, and were invited to attend a reception following the game in the cafeteria. Food and beverages for the alumni event were provided by The Broken Egg, Mugshots Grill and Bar, and Champagne Beverage. Four members of the class of 1989, served as alumni escorts at the game. Associate Alumni Director, Robert Simpson '88, and Mrs. Shellie Campo, Special Events Coordinator, made the arrangements for the alumni events. Students enjoyed two dances held in the Briggs Assembly Center. Sophomores, juniors and seniors enjoyed dancing on the evening of October 11th, and freshman and eighth graders celebrated on September 28th. Mrs. Amy Marshall, Moderator of the Student Council, helped to organize the student activities for the celebration.

Grandparents Day

October 11th brought the end of the first academic quarter, cooler weather, and the annual "Thank God for Grandparents Day" to Saint Paul's. The Briggs Assembly Center was filled with blue and gold balloons, a wonderful feast, and hundreds of students and grandparents. Campus Minister, Barrett Baumgartner led a prayer service which included the traditional hymns "Rise Up, O Men of God" and "Let There Be Peace on Earth." The Lasallian Band led by Mrs. Christi Simoneaux did their usual excellent job of playing music and leading the songs. Both students and grandparents raised their voices in prayer and song. Brother Raymond Bulliard, FSC President/Principal conducted a brief program which began as each school day begins on campus, with the Morning Prayer and the Pledge of Allegiance. The Air Force Junior ROTC presented the colors before the pledge. Brother Ray provided the students with statements which required them to communicate to their grandparents the important things happening on campus. The dedicated members of the Saint Paul's Mothers' Club organized a light lunch for the guests, and students were encouraged to give their grandparents a tour of the campus which is in full bloom with bright yellow mums, thanks to the dedicated members of the "Botanical Wolves" and their "Bring a Mum" campaign. It was a wonderful day on campus and the evening brought Saint Paul's Football team their 32nd consecutive district football victory against the Mandeville Skippers.

Academics

On Friday, September 20, twenty senior and junior students from the Engineering III Civil Engineering and Architecture class took a field trip to the construction site of the new Louisiana State University Medical Center which will be replacing Charity Hospital in New Orleans. The class, accompanied by Assistant Principal Trevor Watkins, physics teacher Rachel Peak, and Habitat for Humanity moderator and math teacher Richard Pichon, arrived at 10:30 and met with the project manager who gave a brief overview of the construction work being done.

Afterwards, the boys split up into three groups. Two of the groups went and analyzed CAD programs, computer aided design, which displayed 3D models and layouts of the 1.2 million dollar construction project. Engineers, architects, and designers from across the have worked together on this project. The third group went out to the actual construction and viewed the design and architecture style. The group leader disclosed very interesting facts about the entire project and building process.

On Saturday, September 28, Saint Paul's held the 19th Annual St. Paul's Math Tournament. With the Briggs Assembly Center opened for business this year, 230 mathletes from twelve different schools rushed into the BAC for its first ever math tournament. The Fighting Math Wolves led the charge while battling in individual and team competitions over various categories: Geometry, PreAlgebra, and Algebra I and II. Equipped with nothing more than pencils and brains since calculators were forbidden, numerous wolves placed in their field of competition: Pre Algebra, 3rd place Ian Nicoud and 2nd place Ashton VanDeveneter; Algebra I, 2nd place Alex Oliveri; Geometry, 2nd place Ryan Meraux, and Algebra II, 2nd place Aaron Nguyen. In the team competitions the winners were as followed: Pre Algebra team of Ealon Boudreaux, Ian Nicoud, and Brandon Nicotri 1st place and team of John Connor Flick, Patrick Baldone, and Ashton vanDeveneter 2nd place; Geometry team of Ryan Meraux, Luke Avenal, Ruston Keller, and Jacob Broussard 2nd place; and Algebra II team of Aaron Nguyen, Max Gold, Winston Duffour, and Burke Irwn 3rd place. In the whole school test, Saint Paul's placed 3rd overall and in the sweepstakes the team placed 2nd.

The Math Department members, Michael Boudreaux, Pam Cullen, Stephen Englehardt, Adina Gheradini, John Glorioso, Tiffany Kennedy, Alex Lacour, Kristin LaGraize, Richard and Pichon, along with Moderator Susan Jordan would like to thank the numerous Mu Alpha Theta moms and members of Saint Paul's who provided food, wrote tests, checked answers, and proctored classrooms throughout the day.

Freshman Retreat

Concern

The second quarter begins a special time of spirituality for the students of Saint Paul's School. As part of the Lasallian "experience" at our school, each grade level has its own unique and specific religious retreat designed for the needs of the students' growth as "men of God." Each level retreat builds on the other, and they culminate with what is arguably the most highly-anticipated event at Saint Paul's School: Senior Retreat. While none of the other retreats can quite fully equal Senior Retreat in the aspects of effectiveness and profoundness, the faculty and student leaders try their best to make these prayerful days worthwhile. The freshman class went on their retreats in mid October while the pre-freshmen will have their retreat a month later.

The freshman retreat is split into two days: one day is spent at the Camp Abbey Retreat Center in Covington and the other is spent at various service projects around the Covington area. Half of each grade goes to the retreat one day and the next day to the service day.

The freshmen started their retreat on Thursday and Friday, October 17 and 18, at Camp Abbey. Two school buses filled with about eighty students spilled onto the Retreat Center grounds deep in the woods of Covington. From nine o'clock to two thirty, the freshman reflected upon a question asked by freshman religion teacher Thomas Lahey: "How is your relationship with God?" Mr. Lahey along with fellow teachers Mr. Lacour, Mr. Marchese, Mrs. Schmitt, and Mrs. Brett and about twenty-five Lasallian Youth Leaders guided the freshmen to find their path to faith and assisted them in strengthening their bond with God and each other as classmates. Seniors Thomas Ruli, Michael Burke, and Michael Stewart shared their own personal testimonies about their relationships with God over the two days.

When it came time for the class of 2017 to do service, the freshmen broke into six or seven groups of ten to fifteen students each. These groups went to a few places to help local families within our community: the YMCA, Forest Manor retirement home, the Covington Food Bank, and the Covington Food Bank Thrift Shop. Freshman Patrick Napier, who went to the Covington Food Bank, greatly enjoyed his hours helping others: "I worked with a dozen of my classmates for about four hours. Two moms helped us box up food for families. I even had an opportunity to give a box of food to a woman in need which really hit home the message of serving others." William Murphy added, "These retreats get better every year."

Jazz 'N Roll "REBIRTH"

On Saturday, October 5, the Briggs Assembly Center resounded with music and fun. It was the twenty-fourth celebration of Jazz 'N Roll. Tropical storm Karen did not dampen the spirits of the crowd who attended the all indoor event held on a new day and time due to Archbishop Gregory Aymond's "Sunday, Family Day Policy."

The event participants enjoyed the Jazz 'N Roll traditions of verbal and silent auctions, gourmet food and beverages, and raffles. Boogie Falaya provided the music for dancing late into the evening. The event was a wonderful success. Saint Paul's is grateful for the support of the community at this traditional event.

Marian Players

The Saint Paul's Marian Players are set to perform the World War II era comedy, "The Teahouse of the August Moon," starting Nov. 6 at the school's Alumni Memorial Theatre, a revival that originally graced the school's stage 11 years ago.

"Teahouse of the August Moon" tells the story of Misfit Captain Fisby who is sent to the Americanize the village of Tobiki on Okinawa, the largest of the Ryukyu Islands. His commanding officer, Col. Wainwright Purdy III, assigns him a wily local, Sakini, to act as interpreter.

Play director Denny Charbonnet is looking forward to the opening, noting, "When we performed it 11 years ago, it went over very well. It's a funny play; it focuses around very inept people handling their positions as they try to understand one another, and it sends a good message of seeing people for who they really are and not just what is on the surface."

Charbonnet went on to say that production has been going along smoothly thus far. "The cast is big, a little over 30 people, but everyone is working together nicely and really getting into their roles." The role of Sakini is played by Jimmy Farris, and Capt. Fisby is rendered by Michael Stewart. Other roles include Nick Blaise as Sgt. Gregovich, Jonah Knickles as Col. Purdy, Brennan Skinner as Capt. McLean, Sarah Seghers as Lotus Blossum, Sam Giberga as Ancient Man, Rachel Rovira as Old Woman (on Jeep), Grace Dumdaw as Old Woman's Daughter, Jordan Jacob as Mr. Hokaida, David Conroy as Mr. Seiko, Trip Russ as Mr. Omura, Trey Couvillion as Mr. Oshira, Ben Kenney as Mr. Sumata, Eric Boudet as Mr. Sumata's Father, Ross Allbritton as Mr. Keora, Thomas Huval as Mr. Sato, Garrett Shearman as Mr. Takahashi, Samantha Brown as Miss Higa Jiga, and Alison Curl as Old Woman in Village.

The roles of the villagers are played by Stephen Hammond, Madeline Doucet, Patrick Rudiger, Hailey Berezuk, Mitch Richard, Jack Donham, Sarah Hoerner, Connor Scott, Aubry Hymel, Sam Nuss, Sam Drouant, A.J. LaCroix, Hailey Berezuk, Nick Davis, Austin Scheyd, Ealon Boudreaux, Cray Pennison, Tyler Fair, Zac Russ, and Ryley Perez.

Nick Oubre plays the part of the soldier and the children are performed by Isabella Angelette, Sophia Angelette, and Jude Angelette.

Director Denny Charbonnet is aided by Barrett Baumgartner as Assistant Director, Michael Boudreaux on set construction, Ellen Lipkos on lighting design, Elise Angelette on costume design/choreography, Evette Thatcher and Renee Sibley with costume construction, and Janet McRae, Shelley Falkenstein and mothers managing make up.

Additional credit goes to Chloe Charbonnet for poster design concept, Judy Church and Christi Simoneaux for poster illustrations, Christi Simoneaux for poster layout, Rhonda Baumgartner for props, Dawn Skinner as parent coordinator, Marcy Donham and Trisha Stewart as food program coordinators, Christopher Damare as stage manager, Garret Grass on light board, Janet McRae for managing tickets, Barry Auxilien for publicity, Michael Sitarz for the program, and Dustin Simoneaux, Chris Woodman, Zachary Davis, Jack Fleming, Brandon Gallego, David D'Antonio, and Ethan Hopel as stage crew.

Showtimes are Nov. 6, 7, and 9 at 7:00 p.m. and Nov. 10 at 3:00 p.m. Tickets are $15 for adults and $10 for students and can be purchased at the St. Paul's School administration office, (985) 892-3200 ext. 1000, or at Braswell Drugs on Tyler St. in Covington, (985) 892-0818.

"Teahouse of the August Moon" was written by John Patrick and adapted from a novel by Vern Sneider. This production is put on with special permission by Dramatists Play Service, Inc.

Project Lead the Way

Saint Paul's students in the PLTW class Human Body Systems work with skeletons and muscle groups as part of the class which examines the interactions of human body systems as they explore identity, power, movement, protection, and homeostasis. Students design experiments, investigate the structures and functions of the human body, and use data acquisition software to monitor body functions such as muscle movement, reflex and voluntary action, and respiration. Pictured as they prepare to work with the skeletons seated are: Thomas Schmidt, Justin Guillory, Austin Grashoff, and Tristan Smith, Standing are: David Von Bodungen, Leland Van Deventer, Austin Groenvled, Seth Dragon, Gary Cavalier, Mark Spicer Jr. and Jonathan King.
