Student Host Banquet

Saint Paul's Renaissance Board sponsored the 2012 Student Host Banquet held on April 30th at the Abita Springs Quail Farm. Following in the rich traditions of its Lasallian heritage, one of the hallmarks of Saint Paul's is its commitment to service. A group of students that recently received recognition for their service to the school were the Student Hosts, who are moderated by Public Relations director Karen Hebert. These students, from eighth through twelfth grades, serve as ambassadors for the school at various functions throughout the year, including the Jazz N' Roll and Celebrity Waiters fundraisers, Open House, athletic and extracurricular awards banquets, and Marian Player drama productions. Each of the eighty-five students was given a certificate, and the seniors, who serve as the Student Host Leaders throughout the year, were rewarded for their efforts with special 2012 Saint Paul's key chains. In total, the Student Hosts contributed a total of 2321 hours of service to help better Saint Paul's. Thank you to all of the Student Hosts!

During the week of April 30 through May 4, Saint Paul's celebrated Founder's Week, where there focus on learning about and honoring Saint John Baptist de La Salle, who began the Brothers of the Christian Schools over 330 years ago. On Monday, de La Salle's birthday, the Mothers' Club held a special afternoon snack break for the student body. On Wednesday, May 2, students and faculty gathered in the Student Center for the final liturgy of the year. Mass was celebrated by Father John Talamo of Our Lady of the Lake Parish in Mandeville. Brother Ray and the student body thanked Father John for his dedication and willingness to serve at Saint Paul's over the past four years and wished him luck in his new assignment.

On Friday, May 4, Founder's Week culminated with Field Day and Wolf Jam, two events sponsored by the Lasallian Youth Leaders and moderator Myrle Wiggins. Students in each grade level were allowed to dress down according to a specific theme, and the grade levels competed against each other throughout the afternoon in various games, including flag football, tug-of-war, track events, a FIFA tournament, a chess tournament, and many more. After nearly three hours of intense competition involving over 600 students, the seniors emerged victorious – the Class of 2012's second straight Field Day victory!

Later that night, the annual Wolf Jam concert was held in the Student Center. Wolf Jam is a fundraiser that showcases student bands, and all of the proceeds from the event go to San Miguel High School in Tuscon, Arizona, a fellow Lasallian school. This year, the event featured physics teacher Gene Lipps, sophomore Ryan Rees, the Saint Paul's Jazz Wolves, the Disappearing Yoshis, the Stone Rabbits, and the 2012 All-Stars. The night was a success, and students and parents were treated to excellent music while supporting a great cause.
