Gentlemen and members of the Saint Paul's community,

I hope that you have all had a fruitful and productive start to the New Year. We have certainly hit the ground running here off Jahncke Avenue, and there are many ways for you to join us in 2014. For our current sports schedules, see below.

I recently sent out a mass and Principal's Assembly schedule for which a few of you have already attended, including the Honorable Mayor Cooper, and for which we are grateful. However, there is certainly plenty of room for more of you, and I once again extend the invitation. To review the available dates, please see below.

For our upcoming Development/Alumni events, please note the following:

- Thursday, March 13, 2014 - Celebrity Waiters Dinner – theme – "Polynesian Paradise"
- Saturday, March 22, 2014 – Ozone Spring Run
- Saturday, April 12, 2014 - Crawfish Cookoff

My final update is in regard to our Annual Fund which began in the beginning of December at which point you all were sent an E mail (December 5th) with a subject line of "Alumni Growth." That correspondence referenced the anemic number of alumni who supported last year's appeal of fifty-one (51) over an entire fiscal year of contribution. In just under two months of a change in marketing strategy if you will, I am pleased to report that we have certainly experienced a "Growth" with a 100% increase in support. We currently have one hundred two (102) alumni who have answered the call. Thank you for your support. This is a great step in the right direction, but there is still a huge void in our alumni base of support that should be filled given a school of this caliber and character. For a donor list by class of those alumni who have supported the Annual Fund thus far for the 2014 Appeal, CLICK HERE.

I pledge to you, the alumni, that this department will continue to work on constituent relations, reunion formats, refining our current schedule of events, creating new alumni events and making you feel even more welcome than you did that first day here in eighth, seventh or even fourth grade. However, I also pledge that I will continue to challenge you in that if you have the capacity and that if Saint Paul's has had a significant influence in your formation, please consider supporting our Annual Fund which is so vital to the functioning of this great institution.

As always, should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

For the Strength of the Pack is the Wolf, and the Strength of the Wolf is the Pack!

School News

Saint Paul's student body did one final Lasallian act to complete the 2013 school year. Students donated money to the traditional Adopt-A-Family campaign. The students and several faculty members bought, wrapped and delivered presents making Christmas better for five families. Additional funds were also donated to the Covington Food Bank and to the Covington Rotary Club, who help those in need over the holidays.

Senior Retreat

Faith

Every Saint Paul's student eagerly awaits the return of school after the Christmas Holidays; the new semester gives the student body a fresh start for grades, friendships, and sports. However, the senior class has something else so incredibly special that the class of 2014 has been anticipating a certain event since its first day at Saint Paul's in 2009: the Senior Retreat. Considered the highlight of most Saint Paul's alumni's time at our school, the retreat allows the 168 seniors to escape from Covington, leaving behind family, phones, and school work, into a tiny suburb outside of Alexandria called Woodworth. Here, the seniors, along with several teachers and faculty members serving as the retreat team, spent three days and two nights at the Wesley Center from Wednesday January 8 to Friday January 10. While the time and place of the retreat are known, everything else from activities and details to the schedule and group leaders is kept completely secret until the retreat staff sees fit for the students to know. Once the retreat is over, seniors remain silent to the lower classmen. The retreat team promises that the students' lack of knowledge contributes to the effectiveness of the retreat. Lee Pierre, Renee Miller, Luke Barwick, Christian Bobak, Jeaneen Schmitt, Brother Ken Boesch, Al Nastasi, Gina Hall, Rachel Peak, Gene Lipps, Paul Scoriels, Andrew Dart, Robert Simpson, Carol Barcelona, and Karen Hebert composed the retreat staff.

While no senior can say what occurred during the three day getaway, the seniors have been very vocal about the effects of the retreat. The mission of the retreat is a simple one: to discover who you are and to knit together over one hundred personalities into one web of brotherhood. Michael Stewart, during the retreat, was able to piece his own future together. He said, "My heart has nestled itself forever into Saint Paul's but my mind has graduated and is now prepared to dominate the future, whatever it may hold."

Like Michael, Shane Kennedy believes the mission succeeded. Shane said, "The experience was incredible. We finally got a real chance to come together. I talked to people I've never talked to before and realized I have friends in places I would've never expected." John Frey echoed Shane's words. John, who only started Saint Paul's junior year, feels like he has been a part of the senior class as much as everyone else: "The retreat was without a doubt the best experience of my life. I'm absolutely blessed to go to a school that gives me such a great opportunity to not only learn but to also grow into a family of 168 brothers."

The retreat ended on Friday with the distribution of the traditional Senior Retreat crosses by the retreat team. The seniors proudly wear their crosses, a symbol of the seniors' journey in faith through their time at Saint Paul's and their unity in the Saint Paul's brotherhood. Even today, graduates from many years ago still wear their crosses. Jimmy Montour, class of 2013, suffered an injury in a car crash within the past year. After a speedy recovery, he realized he lost his cross in the confusion of the accident. Because the cross meant so much to him, he asked Principal Brother Ray Buillard, FSC for another cross. Within the next week Jimmy received a senior cross. The links of brotherhood hold strong and stretch far to the thousands of alumni throughout the country.

National Punctuation Day

Saint Paul's freshman, Austin Willis, son of Michael Willis and Yoshin Willis of Covington was selected a winner in the National Punctuation Day Essay Contest. NPD was founded by former newspaperman, Jeff Rubin, in 2004 to demonstrate the importance of correct punctuation and bring punctuation to the forefront of people's minds at least once a year. Austin composed a 250 word essay on the virtues of all punctuation, and explained how punctuation has affected his life. Click here to view Austin's essay.

Quality Education

As a Lasallian school, everything we do is based on our Five Core Principles. With the core principle of quality education in mind, Saint Paul's would like to congratulate junior George Cazenavette for scoring a composite 36 on his ACT test in December. He did not miss any questions in all four parts of the test. George would like to attend the Washington University at Saint Louis.

By Michael Burke '14

Also in the theme of quality education, the science department has been quite busy. The Biology II class, taught by football coach and master of the sciences Lee Pierre, began dissecting cats in the science laboratory on Monday, January 14, in order to learn more about the human anatomy. But then to learn more about the human anatomy, why would students be dissecting cats? Senior Don Lipani, who is currently taking the class, provided the answer: "The program chose cats for dissecting because cats have many muscles that are found in the human body which helps us understand how each muscle connects and works with each other." Before the Biology II students can actually examine the insides of the cats, they first must skin the cats which may take one or two class periods.

Anything Goes

The drama department, led by Denny Charbonnet, started counting down the days until the opening night of its spring musical Anything Goes which will run from late March through early April. The Marian Players, as the student actors are commonly called, diligently rehearse for hours to ensure a perfect performance. Senior Michael Stewart said, "This is my senior and final year to be able to do Saint Paul's drama. We have all thoroughly enjoyed every second being a part of the Marian Players. I could not ask for a better musical than the play Mrs. Denny chose for us." Earlier this school year, the Marian Players performed Teahouse of the August Moon as their fall drama. For more information, contact the school at 985-892-3200.

Rugby

Saint Paul's School has added a new sport to the list of athletic teams on campus. Rugby had a scrimmage against East Jefferson in City Park on Saturday, January 11th. The team will play Jesuit on January 18th, and the first game in Hunter Stadium will take place on February 1st at 1:00 pm. Rugby team members pictured before practice are Quinn Anglada, Samson the Rugby Wolf, and Christian Jarrett in the first row. In row two are: Grant Geffer, Cullen Lagasse, and Michael Maggio.

Running with the Wolves

Senior Don Lipani likes to run. He enjoyed running on the 5A 2013 state champion cross country team this past year, and he is currently training for the upcoming indoor and outdoor track and field seasons. Last year as a junior in May of 2013, Don placed 2nd in the 3200 meter run at the track and field state championships held at the Louisiana State University. With all of this in mind, it was no surprise when Don Lipani committed to the University of LSU on Wednesday, January 15, as a cross country and track and field athlete. Don said, “When I started high school I didn’t think I would play any sports, but now I’m going to run at the collegiate level. Everyone dreams of playing at LSU when they were little and I’ll be living that dream next year.” Don said all his inspiration comes from his coaches: head cross country coach

Terryl Chatham, assistant coach Bud Weiss, head track coach Al Nastasi, Brother Rich Kovatch, and Reggie Bresette. “Mr. Reggie is an excellent mountain biker and adventurer,” said teammate Michael Burke. “He inspired the entire team to train our hardest and aim for our craziest dreams.”

Ryan O'Krepki was recognized as the Metro Player of the Week for week 6 of Saint Paul's vs. Mandeville football game. Coach Sears was also recognized at the luncheon. In Ryan's acceptance speech, he thanked Coach Sears for teaching him the game, and credited him for being a strong role model.

Saint Paul's Senior, Zachary Albright, son of Dr. Anthony and Mrs. Angelle Albright of Covington, has been selected as the Gatorade Louisiana Boys Cross Country Runner of the Year. This award recognizes not only outstanding athletic excellence, but also high standards of academic achievement and exemplary character demonstrated on and off the racecourse. Zachary was the All-Metro Co-Runner of the year for this past season. In addition to being an honor student and maintaining a 4.53 grade point average, Zachary is a member of the National Honor Society, and Mu Alpha Theta. He has worked with the Habitat for Humanity, and Special Olympics. He has attended inspirational retreats with Immaculee Ilibagiza's, a Rwandan genocide survivor, and worked with the Look Good Feel Better cancer patient support initiative. He will attend Princeton University where he will continue his running career, and major in Business.
