Big Brother Program

The Big Brother Program ended the first semester with a special prayer service and recognition luncheon on January 15th in the Student Center. Brother Gale Condit and Jimmy Dykes thanked the Big Brothers for all they did for the 8th graders during this semester. By working and praying with others, the Big Brothers express the same sense of community that de La Salle envisioned to develop in the schools he founded. Each Big Brother received a special key chain with an attached compass symbolizing the direction one is following in life.

Brown Foundation Grant

Karen Hebert takes her honor students on a field trip to Eastside Primary School near Hammond, where about 90% of the students are living below the poverty level, and we share a reading experience. The SPS student reads with his buddy and dedicates it to the child. The grant money is used to buy literacy gifts for kids, bags with pens, pencils, notebooks, etc. This project helps the kids to have things they need, it helps our children see how blessed they are and teaches them to give back to community.

The eighth grade honors classes participate in the Brown Foundation Service Learning Grant Program twice a year. They look at examples of early reading texts and decide on a subject they would like to write about. Each book has text, coloring pages and jokes on the 1st grade level. They are written, illustrated, edited and printed. In the fall they do alphabet books and in spring they do non-fiction books related to social studies or science.

Wolf Tracks is a publication of Saint Paul's School in Covington, Louisiana. A Christian Brothers school for boys, grades 8-12.
