Sage Bourgeois '89

Family: Married Greta Schwing Bourgeois (SSA Class of 1992) in November of 1995. Together we have three daughters: Rennan, Merrick, and Landen. Last, but not least, is our son Sutter '23

Education: Bachelor of Science degree from Southeastern Louisiana University in 1995.

Occupation: Co-owner of Fire and Safety Commodities and Advanced Sheet Metal

What is your favorite memory at Saint Paul's?

There are truly too many to recount them all. As strange as it may seem, the fondest may have also been one of the earliest. It was a sports camp prior to the start of 8th grade. It gave all of us an incredible feeling of belonging right at the beginning.

What do you value most about your Saint Paul's education and experience?

Lifelong friendships are what I value the most. The familiarity that we share, even after all the time that has passed is amazing. It takes less than a second to erase the years that have gone by between meetings with a classmate or a fellow alum. I doubt that many other schools can make that claim.

Do you have any other family members currently attending or who have attended Saint Paul's?

I have an entire laundry list of those near and dear to me that have gone through SPS. I have three brothers-in-law: George '84, Gavin '84 and Garrett '88 Schwing. My brother Mace followed me and finished in '92. I also have several alumni nephews: Harris '13, Hayden '18 and Rhett '18 Schwing as well as Thomas Bourgeois '20 and Josh Bonnett '20. My son, Sutter, finished with last year's seniors in 2023. In addition to those graduates, my nephews Brady Doyle '24 and Brody Bourque '27 are currently students on campus.

Who was your favorite or most impactful teacher?

Without a doubt, Trevor Watkins was the guy who got the most out of me. He has that very calm demeanor that was very much the yin to my yang.

He was able to get me to realize that the world wasn't always going to be fair and to not waste energy trying to make it so. I knew that he always wanted me to succeed, and I tried very hard not to let him down. Almost four decades later, he still has his unique ways of pushing me to grow.

What advice would you give to current students or young alumni?

I would tell all the young guys to stay connected. Stay connected to the school and to one another. Help each other as often as you can.

In what ways do you continue to be involved with Saint Paul's at this phase of your life?

I try to be involved whenever possible. I am fortunate enough to live across the street from school which makes being a sports fan incredibly easy. We also contribute, with pride, to the Marching Wolves and several other events yearly. It's safe to say that I have a tremendous affinity for this place.

What would you describe as your greatest takeaway from Saint Paul's?

The school really goes a long way in setting up for the future. Yes, you can get through your five years and move on, but that's not the point. It allows you to set up a network that you can rely on in every facet of your life: spiritually, emotionally and professionally.

Alumni News

Alumni Reunion - On Friday, December 22, the Class of 2019 held their first formal reunion at the Covington Beer Garden (pictured below). From all accounts, the young Pack of Wolves represented themselves and us well while exhibiting great promise for a bright future both in the alumni realm and the world at large. Many thanks to Josh Rovira and his counterpart at SSA, Sarah d'Hemecourt, for their organizational efforts.

Christmas on Columbia

In keeping with the traditional day after Christmas sequence, our annual Christmas on Columbia Reunion was held on Tuesday, December 26th. Graduates from both Saint Paul's and Saint Scholastica shared an evening of fellowship, thanksgiving and holiday cheer at the Columbia Street Tap Room, Seiler Bar and Patio. Since the inception and resurrection of this event a decade ago, the function has always served as an opportunity to celebrate our alumni and associated relationships at a truly special time of year. Many thanks to all of those in attendance, especially our young alumni for their desire to stay connected. In particular, the Class of '22 deserves a special shout out and the Iron Man award for their attendance at this year's holiday events.

Alumni Trivia Night

On Friday, December 22nd, our traditional Trivia Night-Christmas Edition united several of our brightest alumni, including many college students home for the break and a few of our more seasoned alumni. A healthy cadre of teams competed for Saint Paul's swag and ultimate bragging rights. Many thanks to celebrity host Andrew Dart '03 and to all participants for attending a truly entertaining evening.

Winners are as follows:

First Place: Max Tepper '17, John Brasher '17, Shane Strander '17

Second Place: Hayden Vogt '22, Brian Lea '22, Nathaniel Overby '22, Alex Tepper '22

Third Place: Thomas Cazenavette '22, Daniel Whalen '22, James Ellis '22, and Bonnie Little John.

2015
Congratulations!

Officer
Lance
Toups

Student Resource Officer of the Year
Covington Police Department

Congratulations to Saint Paul's School Safety Resource Officer (SRO) Lance Toups who was nominated and selected by his peers from the Covington Police Department as SRO of the Year.

Officer Toups has over 20 years of experience in law enforcement most recently working as a patrol officer and detective in the CPD investigations unit. However, his interest was piqued when he learned of the SRO position at Saint Paul's.

Officer Toups' interest in the SRO position grew as he toured the campus with Principal Joe Dickens, but it was not until he returned for a visit later one evening and walked around the 40-acre campus by himself that it became clear to him: Saint Paul's was the place for him. He recalled, "I thought about it. I talked to my wife about it, and I talked to God about it, and then I applied."

Within the past two years, safety resource officers have been placed in each public and private school in the city of Covington. The primary function of a school resource officer is to serve as a connection between the police department, students, parents, and administrators. Officer Toups has definitely formed connections within the Saint Paul's School community and has been a welcomed addition to the staff. Principal Joe Dickens notes, "Officer Toups brings a wealth of law enforcement experience that helps to ensure our safe environment. Moreover, he seamlessly transitioned to being a respected and trusted part of our staff and has great relationships with the students."

Officer Toups goes above and beyond as he serves the Saint Paul's School community each day and is most deserving of this recognition. Kudos, Officer Toups!

Senior Retreat

The senior retreat has long stood as a testament to the brotherhood, connections, and history of Saint Paul's School. Deeply shrouded in mystery and held in secrecy by the administration and former students alike, senior retreat has been a topic that is often off limits until it finally approaches during the first week of January. On January 3rd, 156 seniors and teachers from a wide range of departments loaded onto buses for their trip to the Wesley Center in Woodsworth, Louisiana. Faculty and staff for the event included: Luke Barwick, Barrett Baumgartner '06, Br. Ken Boesch, Gina Hall, Renée Miller, Andrew Dart '03, Mimi Monteiro, Rachel Peak, Lee Pierre, Matt Pinero, Jeff Ramon '08, Gabe Emerson '12, and Al Nastasi '91. With anticipation, the students entered into a senior ceremony that stretched back years before their arrival.

The very core of the retreat is the small group setting. Randomly selected and extending across various clubs, classes, and sports, these groups are a real smattering of the culture and diversity of Saint Paul's. Teachers and faculty that have been instrumental in the seniors' journey through the school and have been with them for almost all five years lead the student groups. While most retreats focus on only religion or faith in students' lives, this retreat is more of an opportunity to look inward. Students spend time exploring their history and legacy at Saint Paul's as well as their personal lives and plans.

Student Council members enjoyed a cold, abbreviated and successful trip to the Louisiana Association of Student Councils Convention at Northwood High School in Shreveport during the MLK holiday weekend. This event brings together middle and high school student council students from all over the state. Saint Paul's once again won the Gold Award, the Student Council Week Award, and were the winners of the convention-wide Kahoot.

Eddie d'Hemecourt finished his term as District II President and Gunnar Gavel finished his term as District II Parliamentarian. Student Council moderator, Dr. d'Hemecourt, will continue to serve as District II advisor. Accompanying Dr. d'Hemecourt and Ms. Case were Luke Ramirez, Jacob Strecker, Gunnar Gavel, Eddie d'Hemecourt, Harrison Murr, Peyton Kilgore, Kaiden Klebba, and Noah Comeaux. Congratulations on a successful experience and for representing the school well!

The Saint Paul's yearbook students along with moderator Mr. Aaron Falkenstein recently attended the Journalism Education Association (JEA) Conference at Loyola in New Orleans where they had the opportunity to participate in several sessions to hone their skills and learn about jobs in media. During the conference, the 2022-23 yearbook staff was recognized for their work on The Conifer which received awards for both Best Featured Writing and Academic Photography.

Honor Roll Breakfast

Students earning second quarter honor roll were recognized in January during a series of honor roll breakfast celebrations now known as The Brother Raymond Bulliard, FSC, Honor Roll Breakfast. Students and parents gathered in the Briggs Assembly Center and enjoyed a delicious breakfast provided by Mr. Rick Gonzalez of Chick-fil-A (Hwy. 190) as they listened to Johann Sebastian Bach's The Brandenburg Concertos 4 - 6.

The event began with the morning prayer, "A Prayer for Students and Teachers," and following congratulatory remarks by Principal Joe Dickens, students were acknowledged for their exemplary work in the second quarter. In keeping with tradition, Principal Dickens incorporated a quick vocabulary lesson during his remarks to the students, highlighting the following four words taken from the Bro. Ray vocabulary archives: pertinacious (adjective) holding strongly to a purpose, belief or course of action; resolute; mutable (adjective) capable of or subject to change or alteration; inconstant; ripsnorter (noun) a person or thing that is remarkable, wonderful, or superior; and ninnyhammer (noun) a simpleton; a fool.

Mr. Dickens discouraged the students from becoming ninnyhammers in the second semester and encouraged them to be pertinacious ripsnorters. To close the event and in recognition of the National March for Life, Saint Paul's Campus Minister Jeff Ramon '08 offered a reflection regarding the sanctity of all life, from the moment of conception until death, and concluded the event with "A Prayer for Life."

Saint Paul's School Health Occupations Students of America (HOSA) members and Ms. Freeman's PLTW biomed students hosted the second annual Biomedical Science Day. This hands-on educational event introduces underclassmen to the exciting world of PLTW programs at Saint Paul's and offers the upperclassmen instructors the opportunity to showcase their knowledge and skills gained through the dynamic biomedical courses. The event allows students to gain experience with state-of-the-art tools and techniques addressing real world challenges like disease, DNA analysis, prosthetic design, public health and more. The Biomedical Science Day concluded with a Q&A discussion session between a panel of health professionals and the future scientists and engineers. Health professionals included Leticia Canizaro, ACRP-CP; Abby Burns, RN; Laurel DuPont, CEO, DPT; Jeanne Kavanaugh, NP; Jeff Redmond, Radiologist, MD; Diane Romeo, Reg. Pharmacist; Robert Peltier, MD; Lindsay Licata, AVP Clinic Operations; Quinn Strahl, DC, '12; Reid Cumberland, Psy.D; Laura S. Bonanno, PhD, DNP, CRNA; and Richard Paddock, MD.

March for Life

A group of 25 Saint Paul's students joined with a half million participants on the snowy streets of Washington, DC, to show their pro-life support during the annual March for Life. Senior Trey Higgins reflected on his experience stating, "We learned a lot about ourselves and the dignity of all life. Everyone is unique and deserves a chance at life. I felt unified with the other 500 members of the young church in our archdiocese that made the same sacrifices on this pilgrimage to DC."

In addition to the march, their agenda included a tour of the Holocaust Museum, mass at the Basilica of the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, and visits to the Washington Monument and the White House. The group also enjoyed activities offered by the wintry weather conditions such as ice skating and an impromptu snowball fight. by Catherine Tonry

March for Life participants: Connor Fernandez, Trey Higgins, Joseph Mire, Joshua Pichon, Felix Aceves, Matthew Awbrey, Cash Boltin, Evan Brouillette, Edward Cureington, Grant Dodson, Drake Fielding, Jake Fontenot, Seth Fontenot, Noah Mire, Layton Rembert, Luke Schroeder, Jude Angelette, William Charles, Everett Enk, Jonas Boltin, Alexander Karl, Jay Krieger, Matthew Meyer, Julien Ramirez, Brennan Higgins, Mrs. Tonry and Mr. Escher.

Ben Bragg Scholarship

Margo and George Bragg, parents of Saint Paul's alumnus Ben Bragg '08, recently presented Jacob Rebaudo with the Ben Bragg Scholarship which was established by friends and family following Ben's untimely death while attending the Maritime College of the State University of New York. The annual recipients of this award share many of Ben's fine characteristics, including academic achievement, school spirit, a friendly personality, a willingness to help others, and a humble approach to life. Saint Paul's School is grateful to the Bragg and Rebaudo families for exemplifying the principles that define a Lasallian, Catholic education.

Saint Paul's Continues Its Tradition of Sophomore Service Day

The Saint Paul's sophomore class traveled to various locations across the Northshore and New Orleans for the annual Sophomore Service Day on November 15.

Regarding the history of Sophomore Service Day, Mr. Kevin Moore '91 founded Sophomore Service Day about 15 years ago after asking former campus minister Mr. Charlie Legendre if the sophomore class could do some sort of service.

According to Moore, the objective of Sophomore Service Day was, and should still be, allowing students to serve the community.

When asked why he pushed for sophomores to take a day off from school to serve the community, Moore stated, "It was also clear that our students did not have a good grasp of what true service was or how to go about getting involved. They mistake volunteering for service. Service should be uncomfortable until it is comfortable."

Accordingly, Moore and Campus Minister Jeff Ramon '08 spend countless hours deriving the plans for Sophomore Service Day each year.

This year, students could choose from 11 options to beautify and aid the community. Depending on the selection, they were divided into guided groups of seven to 31 people.

These options were Arc-GNO, Covington Clean-up, Food for Seniors, Keep Covington Beautiful, Keep Mandeville Beautiful, LSU Agricultural Garden, New Heights Therapy Center, Northshore Food Bank, Roquette Lodge, Saint Michael's Special School, and the Samaritan Center.

Some students and teachers who served at these worksites shared their experiences with The Paper Wolf.

Saint Paul's sophomore Luca Rodas reflected on his experience at Saint Michael's School, a school for special needs adults in New Orleans. "For sophomore service day, I was fortunate to go to Saint Michael's School to help special needs adults. It was an amazing experience, and I am grateful I was able to help."

Saint Paul's sophomore Sebastian Mutter worked at the LSU Agriculture Garden in Covington. "As a group, we worked to dig trenches and lay a waterline down so it could water the plants. We also built pots for other gardens and plants."

Saint Paul's sophomore Aiden Underwood helped elderly people at Roquette Lodge. "Roquette Lodge is an assisted living facility. I, alongside other students, helped the people living there (mostly the elderly) with technology, furniture, and hanging pictures."

Saint Paul's religion and Spanish teacher, Mr. Barrett Baumgartner '06, helped the sophomores keep Mandeville beautiful. "It was a great opportunity to bond with my students and get to know them outside the classroom. Additionally, it was nice that we could walk around Old Mandeville and help clean parts of the town that had been overlooked for so long. It felt amazing to bring care back into the area."

Saint Paul's sophomore Lane Hamaker also shared his experience keeping Mandeville beautiful. "We walked around the lakefront and Old Mandeville cleaning up trash in ditches and on the sidewalks. I learned how important it is to take care of my surroundings."

Saint Paul's sophomore Luke Murphy helped the elderly get food at Food For Seniors. "We worked with Catholic Charities to pack food boxes for seniors in the New Orleans area. I learned that service is very rewarding and a good way to bond with others."

Saint Paul's Sophomore Service Day is vital for blossoming sophomores as it helps them bond with one another while benefiting their communities. Overall, this tradition gives them a unique opportunity to become more comfortable serving their community.
